Updated August 2024

2025 Applicant Qualifications

Application for the 2025 cohort of Yenching Scholars will be open from August 15 to December 1, 2024. Candidates must submit all materials before 12:00 noon (Beijing time) on the deadline. Letters of recommendation must also be received by this deadline.

Eligibility

- Minimum of a Bachelor's degree in any field, or be currently enrolled in a Bachelor degree program and be on track to graduate no later than August 31 of the year in which they wish to enroll;
- An outstanding academic record;
- Strong interest in interdisciplinary study of China;
- A record of extracurricular achievement, community engagement, social responsibility, and leadership potential;
- English proficiency.

We do not have a strict age cut-off for applicants, but, excluding recipients of the the Zhuoyue Scholarship discussed below, no person over the age of 29 has been admitted to the program. The average age of students entering the program is 23.

Application Components

- Yenching Academy online application (note that all students and alumni of Partner Universities are required to apply through their universities);
- Personal statement (750 words or less);
- Statement of Research Interest (maximum 1500 words, excluding citations):
 - Should include key research question(s), background to study and/or summary of literature, and study design that could reflect the applicant's academic training. Please note that applicants are not committed to making this proposed project their Master's thesis topic. The Admissions Committee wants to judge how they formulate and write about academic topics.
- Curriculum vitae (maximum 2 pages);
- Official transcript(s)¹;
- Diploma(s) or Certificate(s) of Enrollment¹;
- Two academic letters of recommendation (English or Chinese):
 - Peking University will only accept recommendation letters written by full professors or associate professors (or equivalent titles).
 - For applicants from the HMT regions, letters must be from professors teaching in the field in which you are applying for (e.g. an economics professor for students applying for Economics and Management). Please use the "专家推荐信" template available here.

- English proficiency demonstrated through one of the following scores²:
 - IELTS (Academic): Overall 7.0
 - TOEFL (iBT): Overall 100
 - Cambridge English Scale (Advanced): Overall 185
 - Submission of English scores: For IELTS, TOEFL, and Cambridge tests, we will only accept scores sent directly to us from these organizations. Please choose "Yenching Academy of Peking University" as the designated recipient of the scores. For TOEFL, use the institution code: C488.
 - TOEFL and IELTS English proficiency tests must be taken after September 1, 2023. Currently, we do not accept TOEFL MyBest Scores, TOEFL iBT Home Edition, IELTS Indicator test, IELTS Online, or IELTS One Skill Retake.

² International applicants whose native language is English, or have graduated from an English-taught degree program (undergraduate or above), are not required to provide an English proficiency test report. Applicants from the HMT regions are required to provide an English proficiency test report, even if they have attended or graduated from an English-taught degree program. Without providing an English proficiency test report, candidates from these regions will need to take English as a Second Language after enrollment at Peking University.

Applicants from the Chinese Regions of Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan (HMT)

Applicants holding the below identity documents issued to residence from these regions must apply as an HMT applicant:

- For residents from the HKSAR and Macao SAR: ①香港或澳门永久性居民身份证 和 ②《港澳居民来往内地通行证》或《港澳居民居住证》
- For residents from the Taiwan region: ①在台湾居住的有效身份证明 和 ②《台湾居民来往大陆通行证》或《台湾居民居住证》

Applicants from these regions are required to submit two online applications, and send the application materials in hardcopy to the admissions office. Specific deadlines can be found below:

- Yenching Academy admissions portal: August 15 to 12:00 noon on December 1, 2024 (Beijing time);

- Peking University Graduate Admissions Application: Specific application timeline will become available around October on this website;
- In addition, applicants from the HMT regions are also required to mail hardcopies of the application material to the Yenching Academy admissions office before January 10, 2025.

Failure to complete the online Peking University Graduate Admissions Application and submit hardcopies of the application materials will result in incomplete and unsuccessful application to the Yenching Academy.

Applicants Born in the Chinese Mainland or the HMT Regions Intending to Apply as an International Candidate

Applicant who intends to apply as an international candidate must be a non-Chinese citizen with a valid passport. Residents of the Chinese Mainland, Hong Kong, Macao or Taiwan who have emigrated to other countries and are applying to Peking University as an international student must present valid passport or citizenship documents dating from before April 30 in 2019, along with proof of cancellation of Chinese nationality.

Additionally, applicants who were born in the Chinese Mainland and later renounced their Chinese citizenships will also need to provide the following documents to yca-submissions@pku.edu.cn before December 1, 2024:

1. A non-PRC passport and/or a naturalization document valid before April 30 in 2019, as well as a PRC passport with a “cancellation” stamp;
2. A document that proves the cancellation of their record of household registration (户籍) within the Chinese Mainland. This is issued by the police station in which they had their household registration in China.
3. Applicants may provide the items outlined in the first point (non-PRC passport, naturalization document, and invalid PRC passport) during the application stage, and submit the household registration cancellation document later in time.
4. Note that without providing the above documentations, applicants born in the Chinese Mainland will not be recognized as an international student by Peking University, which will lead to ineligibility for admission.

Chinese Language Proficiency

Chinese language proficiency is not a requirement but is highly valued for the Master's in China Studies program. Applicants who meet the following conditions can be eligible to take China-related courses taught in Chinese offered in other departments at Peking University for academic credit:

- HSK 6 test taken after September 1, 2023 and with a test report of: 1) a total score of 210 or higher; and 2) a score no less than 65 for writing;
- Completed a full-time degree program of which the Chinese language was the only language of instruction. Note that applicants will need to provide documentation from the university to certify the language of instruction.

Yenching Fellowship Funding Sources

The Yenching Academy Master's program in China Studies is two years in duration. All admitted students receive the Yenching Fellowship for the first academic year, which covers tuition, accommodation in the Yenching Academy House, a travel stipend for one round-trip journey between your base city and Beijing (the base city must be a city within the country of your nationality; cost of this round-trip will be estimated and calculated by YCA), basic medical insurance, a monthly stipend, and expenses related to research.

Students who maintained a good academic standing, and plan to stay in Beijing during their second academic year can apply for the second-year Yenching Fellowship. This will cover the tuition, accommodation support (on-campus housing or off-campus housing stipend), basic medical insurance and a monthly stipend.

Yenching Fellowships are funded by Yenching Academy's endowment, as well as donations from both governmental and non-governmental sources. At present, our major sponsors include the China Scholarship Council, the Bai Xian Asia Institute, and the International Confucian Association. Students admitted into the program are strongly encouraged to consider applying for one of these external fellowships discussed below.

China Scholarship Council (CSC)

The CSC is entrusted by the P.R.C. Ministry of Education, which provides funding for international students and scholars to study and conduct research at universities within the Chinese Mainland. Two major types of scholarships provided by the CSC are available for Yenching Scholars to apply, namely the Chinese Government Scholarship (CGS), and the “Youth of Excellence Scheme of China Program Chinese Government Scholarship” (thereafter regarded as the Zhuoyue Scholarship program), both awarded on a competitive basis.

Award procedures for the CGS and the Zhuoyue Scholarship program are slightly different: application for the CGS should only be submitted by admitted Yenching Scholars around April in the enrollment year, whereas candidacy for the Yenching Academy for applicants of the Zhuoyue Scholarship will remain conditional until they receive acceptance from the CSC and the Office of International Relations (OIR) of Peking University around July in the enrollment year.

In regards to the Zhuoyue Scholarship program, Yenching Academy is among a handful of high-ranking university programs in China offering this scholarship. The Zhuoyue Scholarship is unique in two ways: it seeks applicants with more professional experience before applying to the Master’s program and it only funds one year in Beijing. Like other Yenching Scholars, the Zhuoyue Scholarship recipients are required to complete all required credits during the first academic year on campus. Upon completing the preparation work of a Master’s thesis, they are obliged to fulfil the requirements of a Master’s thesis and thesis defense outside of the Chinese Mainland during the second academic year. It is worth noting that although all Yenching Scholars receive the same amount of scholarship during their entire course of study, due to the nature of its design, the Zhuoyue Scholarship recipients will receive the full amount of scholarship within one year.

Application for the Zhuoyue Scholarship is open around January until March each year, which is unfortunately, not aligned with the typical Yenching Academy application timeline. Interested candidates should first submit their online application via the Yenching Academy admissions portal before the designated application deadlines, and eligible candidates will be contacted directly by the Yenching Academy to proceed with their Zhuoyue Scholarship application later in time. For more information, please refer to the 2024 Zhuoyue Scholarship instructions webpage. Details and guidelines for the Zhuoyue Scholarship September 2025 intake will become available on our official website around late January 2025.

Bai Xian Asia Institute (BXAI)

BXAI believes that cross-cultural education is the key to a harmonious world built on mutual understanding, respect, and equality. The “Asian Future Leaders Scholarship Program” (AFLSP) provides scholarships for students from Asia to study away from their home country or region at any of BXAI’s Partner Universities. Bai Xian Scholars are invited to participate in various activities, including a three-week summer enrichment program (mandatory with full attendance), as well as other activities exclusively designed for Bai Xian Scholars studying at Peking University.

International Confucian Association (ICA)

The ICA scholarship program provides funding for international students conducting research at Master's level in China, related specifically to historical, archaeological, philosophical or religious studies. ICA advocates for the practical application of Confucianism for self-cultivation and the improvement of morality and spirituality, for fostering sound family and social virtues, for building stronger state governance, for promoting national and social harmony, and for building a strong platform of exchanges in international affairs for the common development of all countries. ICA Scholars are offered opportunities for site visits, as well as events exclusively designed for the scholarship awardees.

Cooperating University FAQs

1. What is the role of Cooperating Universities?

Cooperating Universities serve as a point of contact for candidates, providing information about the Yenching Academy. Students and alumni of Cooperating Universities should apply directly through the Yenching Academy admissions portal. Additional resources for Cooperating Universities are available here.

2. What is the application deadline?

Recruitment deadline for international candidates for September 2024 enrollment is on December 1, 2024. The application deadline for candidates from the HMT regions will be announced by Peking University on this website, and will likely be set later than the December 1 deadline.

We very much appreciate early submissions!

3. What steps will Yenching Academy take after receiving applications?

We will contact candidates directly to schedule interviews from December to March. International candidates can attend interviews online or in person at Peking University. All Chinese candidates, including those from the HMT regions, must attend interviews in person. Finalists who are not required to attend interviews in person will receive an invitation email approximately one week before the interview date.

Please note that Peking University will be on winter vacation from January 11 to February 12, 2025. During this period of time, no interviews will be scheduled.

4. When can applicants expect decisions?

We will make some acceptance offers on a rolling basis for those we are certain fit our requirements and geographic diversity guidelines for international students (approximately 30-35% Europe, 25-30% U.S. and Canada, and 30-35% rest of the world). Most decisions will be made around April.

5. What qualities should a Yenching Scholar possess?

We seek talented, high potential individuals whose collective diversity will create a rich learning and living environment. The best way to understand what we look for in candidates is to review the bios of previous scholars, available on our website. Note that candidates should have a strong interest in China, but we do not require that they have Chinese language study experience. Please review our Applicant Qualifications for more information.

6. What are the supplemental procedures for candidates from the Chinese regions of Hong Kong, Macao, and Taiwan (HMT)?

In addition to applying on the Yenching Academy admissions portal, candidates from the HMT regions are also required to submit a supplementary application through the Peking University Graduate Admissions website (application deadline to be announced). As part of the university application requirement, they should also mail hardcopies of corresponding application materials to the Yenching Academy (Office 116, Jingyuan Courtyard 3, Peking University, No. 5 Yiheyuan Road, Beijing, China, 100871) before January 10, 2025.

Please note that applicants holding identity documents issued to residents of these regions must apply as an HMT applicant. Failure to complete the Peking University Graduate Admissions Application will result in incomplete and unsuccessful application to the Yenching Academy.

Detailed instructions for applicants from the HMT regions will be available here.

7. Are Chinese passport holders eligible to apply?

Mainland Chinese applicants apply through a different process. We are currently only able to accept application from Mainland Chinese students (PRC passport holders) who are currently enrolled as an undergraduate in a Mainland Chinese university. This requirement does not apply to students from the HMT regions.

For more information, please refer to the Peking University Graduate Admissions website.
